Please provide a description of the available accommodation: We have a lovely home and are just replying to the ad that we see looking for a roommate... Potentially our house guest could have a private kitchen, and a private space... I think that this opportunity would be about finding someone who is very mature and independent... And I realize it is already very late in the season for whoever might want a place for the season..Anyhow, This place includes parking and laundry, and we have two dogs.. If the potential housemate is comfortable renting the room and recognizing that we also will be in the space so we all have to be mature and respectful of space, This might be the ideal spot for someone.. Feel free to reach out...

We are retired seniors.... We focus on very clean eating and healthy choices... Our roommate could have their own fridge for their own food.... I think for all involved the priority is just having a great social match for a shared space... And we don't generally have people coming over to visit, and would hope the same for our housemate.
